Dear students,

The Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin and Universidad de La Habana are proud to host the 16th edition of the International Summer School in Economics and Management in Havana.

We offer a variety of interesting courses in different sectors of economics and business, such as Development Economics, Political Economy, Panel Data Econometrics, Design Thinking and Entrepreneurship. In Cuba’s capital Havana international students are given the opportunity to work on frequently discussed topics that are especially interesting and relevant in this international context.

The courses will be taught in English, at undergraduate and graduate level and accredited with ECTS points.

Alongside the academic part of our program, we provide an intense intercultural exchange between European and Cuban students. On weekends and after class, you are invited to attend numerous cultural events and activities such as a Cuban movie night, concerts, sports competitions and excursions.

Hope to see you in Cuba!
